CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-56073-3 - Extensive Reading in the Second Language Classroom
Richard R. Day and Julian Bamford
Index
More information

Index

A few authors cited in the text are listed in the Index if the reference is either detailed or not connected to a specific work. For a listing of all authors and works mentioned in the book, refer to the References.

academic programs, second language, extensive reading in, 44–5 administrators, attitudes of, 167 adult education courses, extensive reading in, 44 affect, 21–31, 165
  attitude in, 22–7, 30–1
  impact of extensive reading approach on, 35–6 motivation in, 27–30
  and second language reading, 21, 24–7, 28–30, 165
attitude, 22–7
  acquisition of, 23–5
  bookstrap hypothesis for, 30–1 changes in, 22
  classroom environment and, 25
  defined, 22
  extensive reading and, 26–7, 30–1 first language reading and, 23–4
  model of, 23
  second language reading and, 23–5 toward culture and people, 25, 26 authenticity
  authentic text, 53–6, 64
  communication and, 60–1
  cult of, 53–6, 57
  defined, 54, 58, 60
  simplified text versus, 55–6, 59–60
automatic word recognition, 12–14, 15, 16–18, 20

Bassett, Jennifer, 67, 68–9 book reports, 87, 142–50
  book reviews, 148, 153
  illustrations in, 147–8
book reports (cont.):
  oral, 148–50
  reaction reports, 143–8
  summaries, 142, 148
  by teacher, 137
book reviews, 148, 153
books, see language learner literature; materials for extensive reading bookstrap hypothesis, 30–1 bootstrapping, 30
Border, Rosemary, 70–1, 75
bottom-up processing, 12 browsing, 130

children's literature, 58, 61, 64, 77, see also materials for extensive reading books, 98–9
  magazines, 102–3
class readers, 46, 47–8, 133–4, 139 classroom activities, 126–55, 166 attitude toward reading and, 25–7, 30–1 book talks by teacher, 137
  class readers, 133–4
  classroom environment and, 25
  curriculum issues in, see curriculum issues free time, 135–6
  help for weak readers, 137–8 individual counseling in, 127–8 library resources for, 107–17, 150–3 materials in, see materials for extensive reading ongoing guidance and, 126–7 orientation of students to, 118–25
  postreading activities, 140–55 read-alouds by teacher, 130–1, 139 reading laboratory, 134–5

© Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-56073-3 - Extensive Reading in the Second Language Classroom
Richard R. Day and Julian Bamford
Index
More information

classroom activities (cont.):
rereading material, 132–3 selecting materials, 130 sustained silent reading (SSR), 7, 43, 123, 128–9 teacher as role model for, 26, 129, 136–7, 139, 166–8 timed readings, 132
classroom library, 113–14, see also library resources cloze tests, 88–90, 157–8 cognitive processes, 10–20, 165
automatic word recognition, 12–14, 15, 16–18
interactive models for, 12–15 knowledge hypothesis, 14–15, 18–19 lexical access, 13–14, 15, 17–18
phonemic decoding, 13, 15
phonological representations, 14 for second language reading, 15–19 top-down versus bottom-up processing, 12 Cohen, Andrew, 55
comfort zone, 92, 121–2
comics, 104–5
commercial language schools, extensive reading in, 44 communication
authentic text and, 60–1 content and language in, 65 simplified text and, 60–1 communicative language teaching (CLT) movement, 54 comprehension
background knowledge and, 59–60 knowledge hypothesis and, 14–15 level of difficulty and, 16–17, 59–60, 91–3, 109 phonological representations and, 14 questions to check, 141–2 schema theory and, 14–15 counseling, individual, 127–8 critical thinking skills, extensive reading and, 44–5 curriculum issues, 40–9, 83–95 amount of material to read, 84–6, 123 classroom time for reading, 7, 43, 47, 90–1, 123, 128–9 dictionary use, 93–4, 122–3 for extensive reading in academic programs, 44–8 curriculum issues (cont.):
for extensive reading in second language programs, 40–4 homework, 90–1
level of difficulty, 16–17, 91–3, 109, 112, 121–2, 124 materials, see materials for extensive reading orientation of students to, 118–25
program evaluation, 156–63
student evaluation, 86–90

decoding, phonemic, 13, 15 delivery system, 114
diaries, reading, 87
dictionaries, 93–4, 122–3 difficulty levels of materials, 91–3, 109, 112, 124, 172–3
comfort zone, 92, 121–2
i minus 1, 16–17, 18, 91–2
laddering up, 91–2, 96–7 macho maxim, 92, 110, 121 drop everything and read (DEAR), 129

Edinburgh Project on Extensive Reading (EPER), 48, 79, 134, 169–70, 217–18 elaborated text, 59–60, 64, 65
EPER, see Edinburgh Project on Extensive Reading evaluation
of program, 156–63
of students, 86–90
expectancy + value models, 27–8 extensive reading approach attitude and, 26–7, 30–1 beginning second language readers and, 18
bookstrap hypothesis for, 30–1
characteristics of, 7–9 cognitive processes in, 16–19, 165
defined, 5–6
goals of, 6–7, 45–6, 120, 157, 158–9, 164–5
impact on affect, 26–7, 29–30 impact on knowledge, 18–19 impact on sight vocabulary, 16–17 impact on spelling, 37–8 impact on vocabulary knowledge, 17–18 intensive reading versus, 5, 6 motivation and, 29–30
as pleasure reading, 3–5, 6, 7 scanning versus, 6
skimming versus, 6

© Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-56073-3 - Extensive Reading in the Second Language Classroom
Richard R. Day and Julian Bamford
Index
More information

extensive reading programs, 81–168 within academic programs, 44–5
characteristics of, 7–9
classroom practices in, see classroom activities cost, 46
curriculum decisions for, see curriculum issues evaluation of, 156–63
goals of, 6–7, 45–6, 120, 157, 158–9, 164–5
impact on affect, 35–6
impact on linguistic competence, 37 impact on second language reading, 32–5, 38 impact on vocabulary, 36 impact on writing, 37
institutional support for, 48–9 libraries for, 107–17
materials for, see materials for extensive reading problems of using, 46–8 within second language programs, 40–4 student evaluation in, 86–90 student orientation to, 118–25 studies on effectiveness of, 32–9, 167 time allotted to reading in, 7, 43, 47, 84, 90–1, 123, 128–9 extracurricular activity, extensive reading as, 41, 42–4 fairs, reading, 153–4

fixations, eye, 12–13
flow experiences, 30–1
free time, 135–6
free voluntary reading, 7, 33, 39

glossaries, 78
goals, program, 6–7, 45–6, 120, 157, 158–9, 164–5
Goodman, Kenneth, 20
Grabe, William, 17, 41
guidance, ongoing, 126–7

Hannam, Joyce, 69–70
Hedge, Tricia, 67
Heinemann Guided Readers, 66
Helgesen, Marc, 92, 138
high-school foreign language curriculum, extensive reading in, 43–4 Hill, David, 79, 85, 169 homework, reading, 90–1

i minus 1 level of difficulty, 16–17, 18, 91–2
in-book opinion forms, 150–3 individual counseling, 127–8 intensive language programs, extensive reading in, 43 intensive reading, extensive reading versus, 5, 6 interests, student, 109–11 introducing extensive reading, see orientation, student

Kerr, Rosalie, 72–3
knowledge
acquisition of, 18–19
and cognitive processes, 14–15
hypothesis, 14
and simplification of text, 59 types of, 18–19
Krashen, Stephen, 7, 16–17, 33, 38–9, 104

laboratories, reading, 134–5
laddering up, 91–2, 96–7
language learner literature, 61, 63–79, 169–72, see also library resources; materials for extensive reading as art, 74–6
authentic text in, 53–6, 60–1, 64 authors of, 170
best of English language, 169–72
characteristics of, 64–5
development of, 64–7, 77, 79, 165–6 difficulty levels of, 172–3, see also difficulty levels of materials English language publishers of, 217 English language series of, 213–16 gender of main characters in, 171 genres of, 77
history of, 63, 170–1, see also West, Michael importance of content in, 76–7 reader support and, 77–8 reviews and awards, need for, 169, 171–2 samples of, 68–74
simplified text in, 56–8, 64–7, 97–8
learners' own stories, 99–100
lexical access, 13–14, 15, 17–18
lexicon, see simplified text, lists of words in

© Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-56073-3 - Extensive Reading in the Second Language Classroom
Richard R. Day and Julian Bamford
Index
More information

library resources, 107–17, see also materials for extensive reading budget for, 108–9
  cataloging and materials for, 112 checkout system for, 113, 115 displaying materials from, 115–16
  in-book opinion forms, 150–3 location of, 112–14
  popular books section, 150 purchasing, 111–12
  size of program and, 107–8 student interests and, 109–11 student reading levels and, 109, 112 macho maxim of second language reading instruction, 92, 110, 121 magazines, 92, 102–3, 112, 115 materials for extensive reading, 47–8, 53–79, 96–106, 169–73, see also classroom activities; library resources authenticity of, 53–6, 58–61, 64 bibliographies of, 106, 133, 172 children's books, 76–7, 98–9 children's magazines, 102–3

  comics, 104–5
  communication and, 60–1
  difficulty levels of, 16–17, 91–3, 109, 112, 121–2, 124, 172–3, see also difficulty levels of materials lack of literacy merit in, 47, 96, 97–8 language learner literature, see language learner literature learners' own stories, 99–100
  magazines, 92, 102–3
  motivation to read and, 29, 96–7
  newspapers, 100–1
  popular and simple literature, 103–4 readers, 63, 76–7, 169–217 reading targets and, 84–7 simplicity of, 56–60, 61, 64, 97–8
  simplified text in, 56–8, 64, 97–8 student selection of, 26, 121–2, 130, 150–4 translations, 105
  young adult literature, 104
Mikulecky, Beatrice, 7
Moore, Inga, 76–7
motivation, 27–30
  bookstrap hypothesis for, 30–1 expectancy + value in, 27–8
  extensive reading and, 29–30 materials and, 29, 96–7
motivation (cont.):
  model of, 28
  and second language reading, 28–9 motto of extensive reading, 121 movie adaptations, 97–8
Mowat, Ralph, 71–2
Music Man, The, 3

negotiated evaluation, 90
newspapers, 100–1, 112, 115
notebooks, reading, 87

oral reports, 148–50
orientation, student, 118–25 difficulty levels of materials and, 121–2, 124 goals and, 120
  materials and, 124, see also materials for extensive reading procedures and, 121–2 reading requirements and, 123

Palmer, Harold, 5, 6, 9
phonemic decoding, 13, 15
phonological representations, 14 pleasure reading, 5, 6, 7, 31
popular books section, 150 popular literature, 77, 103–4 posters, 153–4
postreading activities, 140–55
  answering questions, 141–2
  in-book opinion forms, 150–3
  oral reports, 148–50
  popular books section, 150
  rave reviews, 153
  reaction reports, 143–8
  reading fairs, 153–4
  summaries, 142, 148
  wall displays, 154–5
program evaluation, 156–63
  analysis of results, 162 audience for, 157
  goals of program and, 157, 158–9 methods of, 87–90, 157–62

questionnaires
  in program evaluation, 157–62 student interest, 110–11 questions, comprehension, 141–2

Rabley, Stephen, 76–7
reaction reports, 143–8

© Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-56073-3 - Extensive Reading in the Second Language Classroom
Richard R. Day and Julian Bamford
Index
More information

readability formulas, 65–6, 85–6 read-alouds, 130–1, 139 readers, class, 46, 47–8, 133–4, 139 reading
  affective aspects of, 21–31
  cognitive aspects of, 10–20 cultural attitudes in, 30, 118–19, 130
  defined, 11–12
  extensive, see extensive reading approach; extensive reading programs interactive models of, 12–15
  materials for, see materials for extensive reading in second language, see second language reading reading ability helping weak readers and, 137–8
  motivation to read and, 29
  student views, correlation with, 7 reading aids, 77–8
reading fairs, 153–4
reading laboratories, 134–5 reading requirements, 123 reading targets, 84–7 record keeping, 87–9
  book report in, 87–8
  reading notebook in, 87
  weekly reading diary in, 87–9 requirements, reading, 123
rereading material, 132–3
rule of hand, 121–2

scanning, extensive reading versus, 6 schema theory, 14–15 school library, 113, see also library resources second language reading in academic programs, 44–5
  affective aspects of, 21–31, 165
  cognitive aspects of, 15–19
  culture attitudes in, 30, 118–19, 130 enjoyment of, 3–5
  first language reading versus, 15
  impact of extensive reading approach on, 35, 167 impact of previous experiences with, 24–5, 119
  materials for, see materials for extensive reading second language reading instruction focus of, 164–5
second language reading instruction (cont.):
  integrating extensive reading into programs for, 41–4 macho maxim of, 92, 110, 121 problems of, 3–4, 9, 25 unreality of, 4, 9
Shek, Mei Fung Elsa, 32–3, 167 sight vocabulary, 13–14, 16–17, 132 simplified text, 56–8, 64 authentic text versus, 55–6
  communication and, 60–1 comprehension and, 59–60 content problems of, 57–8, 65, 76–7 language and, 59–60
  lists of words in, 57, 66–7 literature and, 97–8 from original text, 56–7, 97–8 readability formulas and, 65–6 simple account, 57
  simple original, 57
  simplified version, 57
skimming, extensive reading versus, 6
Smith, Frank, 20
sociocultural environment, motivation to read and, 30, 118
"speech-first" view of language learning, 47 spelling, impact of extensive reading approach on, 37–8 struggling readers, helping, 137–8
student evaluation, 86–90
  book reports in, 87–8 negotiated, 90
  reading notebooks in, 87
  reading targets in, 86–7 reading tests in, 88–90
  weekly reading diary in, 87
summaries, 142, 148
sustained silent reading (SSR), 7, 43, 123, 128–9, 138

targets, reading, 84–7
teachers
  changes in roles of, 47, 136–7, 166–7 classroom activities of, see classroom activities classroom environment and, 25
  private libraries of, 114 reading aloud to students, 130–1, 139 as role models, 26, 129, 136–7, 139, 166–8 roles and responsibilities of, 166–8

© Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-56073-3 - Extensive Reading in the Second Language Classroom
Richard R. Day and Julian Bamford
Index
More information

tests, reading, 88–90
time classroom, for reading, 7, 43, 47, 90–1, 123, 128–9, 138 as reading target, 84–5
timed readings, 132
top-down processing, 12
topical knowledge, 18–19
translations, 105

uninterrupted sustained silent reading (USSR), 129

vocabulary
  comfort zone and, 92, 121–2
  development of, 17–18
  dictionaries in development of, 93–4, 122–3
  impact of extensive reading approach on, 18, 36
vocabulary (cont.):
  incidental learning of, 17–18
  reader aids for, 78
  rule of hand and, 121–2 in selection of materials, 121–2 sight, 13–14, 16–17, 132

wall displays, 154–5
"weighted pages" formulas, 85–6, 95
West, Clare, 73–4
West, Michael, 5–6, 9, 63, 67, 169, 170–1
Widdowson, Henry, 57, 61–2 world knowledge, 18–19
writing
  impact of extensive reading approach on, 37
  in postreading activities, 140–8 young adult literature, 58, 61, 64, 78, 104, see also materials for extensive reading

© Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org