

TIPS FOR VISITORS

Before You Write

Read the tips. Then write a heading for each set of tips.

When in Rome, do as the Romans!

- When you meet someone for the first time, you're expected to shake hands.
- It's usually not acceptable to kiss people on the cheek when you are introduced to them.

- You're supposed to maintain eye contact when talking to people. Breaking eye contact is considered impolite.
- You aren't supposed to look people in the eye on the street.

- People tend to stand close to each other when talking. Backing away might be considered rude.
- It's common for conversations to be very animated, with frequent interruptions and a lot of physical contact.
- It's not acceptable to push people who are waiting in line.

Your First Draft

A Write tips for visitors to your country (or a country you know well). Use your headings and the tips above as a model.

B PAIR WORK Read your partner's tips. Write answers to these questions.

1. Are the tips clear?
2. Are the headings appropriate?
3. Can you suggest any improvements to the content or grammar?

Your Second Draft

Use your partner's answers to revise your tips.
