Thanks and acknowledgements

I have heard it said that effective teachers are also good learners. I believe in lifelong learning, but this is not a solitary path. There are guides, supporters, advisers and cheerleaders along the way, and it is these people I would like to acknowledge here. For their friendship, professional support and timely advice, I am grateful to Sally Ashton-Hay, Sally Lewis, Marion Whittaker, Jennifer Alford and Suzanne Courtice. To Scott Thornbury, my series editor, I owe a great debt of gratitude for his patience, perseverance and expert guidance. I am also very thankful to the students who have allowed me to use their material: Lillian (Kai Lian), Zac Tooth, Kaitlin Rutledge and Leigh Staines, along with my own students who keep me on my toes and teach me so much. I would like to acknowledge Professor Alan Luke who has supported my use of the Four Resources Model as a framework for a large proportion of the activities. The folk at Cambridge University Press – Roslyn Henderson and Ruth Atkinson – have been generous in their professional advice, and I am very thankful for their support as well as that of my copy-editor Jacque French. And while I have never met Olwyn Alexander, Sue Argent or Jenifer Spencer, their book, EAP Essentials (Garner 2008), has been of great value in writing this book. Finally, to my partner, Allan – thank you for being the most enthusiastic cheerleader of all.
