Acknowledgments

The contributors must be recognized first. Without their activities and their support there would be no book. We thank these busy teachers and professionals who made time to share their expertise and experience.

So many others – students, colleagues, conference participants, staff at Cambridge University Press – had a part in putting together this book that to name them individually would take many pages. To everyone, mentioned and unmentioned, know that the editors and the contributors are profoundly grateful for your efforts.

Three people must be mentioned by name. This book benefited immeasurably from the careful attention of Penny Ur, the series editor. Her dedication, experience, and insights are reflected on every page. We are particularly grateful to Susan Ball for her exceptional work in editing the manuscript. We are also indebted to Tom Robb, who generously shared his expertise on the Internet and Web-based activities.

Extensive Reading Foundation

The editors of this book have established the Extensive Reading Foundation, a not-for-profit, charitable organization to support and promote extensive reading. The royalties from the sale of this book will be donated to the Foundation. For information about the Foundation, its officers, and activities, see www.erfoundation.org.
