Basic description:

During today's session we will create a sculpture based on Andy Warhol's Campbell's Soup Cans. We have to tell the pupils in advance to bring the necessary materials, in this case, a tin can, to make their work of art. We will start by presenting the artist Andy Warhol. We will ask what facts the pupils know about him. After this short introduction, we will explain the steps to follow. While the pupils perform the activity, we will ask them to remember the names of different foods.

Lesson Plan:

First session: (15 min) Explain and talk to your children Andy Warhol.
(30 min) Steps 1-2 should be completed in the first session.

Second session: (30 min) Steps 3-4 should be completed in the second session.
(15 min) Close the session with a game related to the topic.

Game:

Play a game of foods that are healthy and unhealthy. Say a food and ask pupils to say A little or A lot depending on how regularly they should eat the food. Then, ask pupils to write a diary of the food they have eaten for breakfast, lunch and dinner for the last few days. Pairs swap their diaries and give each other a mark out of 10 for how healthy their diet has been. They explain why they have given the mark they have.

Learning Outcomes:

- ✔ Knows the names of food.
- ✔ Understands what makes a balanced diet.
- ✔ Makes three-dimensional works with different materials planning the process and choosing the best way of doing it.

Step 1

Copy Andy Warhol's Campbell's soup can onto your piece of paper.

Step 2

Write your own surname and think of your favourite flavour. Write them on the label of your soup can.

Step 3

Paint the label.

Step 4

Cut and glue the label onto the can.

Step 5

Put your can in a pyramid.
