

FIGURE 11.4. An X-radiograph of a box core taken from the mud bed of Chesapeake Bay. A denotes shell layer, B denotes a large burrow packed with shell debris, and C, D, and E are open burrow networks of various polychaete worms. F is an in-place clam. From Reinharz et al. (1982).