

Reflect and Apply (5.2.1)

Course Goals versus Teaching Objectives

Now that we have described the core components of course goals and teaching objectives at the course level, let's reflect on the connection between goals and objectives. Look at the statements in the right column and consider their relationship to the ones in the left column.

Course goals	Teaching objectives
Communicate effectively and interact in culturally appropriate ways with speakers of the TL.	Describe social norms of the target culture and compare them to your own.
Recognize and appreciate the perspectives, practices, and products of the target culture.	Participate in conversations about topics of general interest.