

TABLE 25 Web table 25.

ID	Tomb Name	Date	Location	Description	Physical Remains	In Situ Finds	References
1	Tumuli	Roman period (possibly 3rd c. CE or later)	north of the mound, among houses of the modern village	multiple tumuli (four excavated); tumuli consisted of a stone circle (up to 11.5 diam.) with an oval pit (2.10/2.40 x 1.10 x 1.10–1.80 m) in the center; the pit held a skeleton; iron nails and in one case a wooden lock plate indicate the possible presence of wooden coffins; the pits were covered by a bench-like structure of mudbrick (0.03 x 0.016 x 0.2 m), on which a stone and earth mound was heaped	single skeleton in each pit (?)	remains of wooden sarcophagus (?)	Bounni 1980, 318; Zaqqûq 2001, 515, pl. 13.1 + 2
2	Tombs	—	on the mound (L 23, burial 1, northwest part)	burials in wooden coffins (multiple)	one tomb contained single individual	twisted silver earring in one tomb	Van Loon & Meijer 1983, 134, fig. 12c