Share, Connect, and Collaborate (8.1.2)
Providing an Assessment Example

For readers who are teaching a course on language teaching methodology or embarking on an instructional technology module, these activities may be useful on a virtual space that requires comments and sharing, such as a blog or a wiki. Now that you have the definition of attributes for traditional and authentic assessment, provide an example of authentic assessment that reflects such attributes on your personal blog based on the examples provided in the previous activity and in the chapter.