

Figure 6.7. Measurements of in vitro change in oxygen concentration in dark bottles containing samples taken from different depths in the ocean from the subtropical North Pacific. Samples from different depths were incubated in bottles either on deck or in situ. Symbols indicate different casts. Redrawn from Williams and Purdie (1991).

