- p. 146, n. 138: for note 532 read note 93.
- p. 161, section 5.1, line 7: reference to “Diodorus 19.80–4” must be removed.
- p. 164, n. 22: for 3619 read 1369 and see note to P.Count 2, l. 466 (p. 84).
- p. 201, n. 12: for “Third Syrian War” read “Second Syrian War.
- p. 200 n. 9 about Syll.³ 332, ll. 9–10: for “where Philip gives land to Cassandra” read “where Cassander renews an earlier grant first made under Philip II.”
- p. 213, line 2: for 800-aroura read 80-aroura.
- p. 219: remove “It remains possible, however, that some descendants of the 30-aroura men remained infantrymen even though they entered the katoikia.”
- p. 239, note 4: add page number “122” after Crawford (1971).
- p. 290, note 248: for Nelson (1979) 328 read 37–38.
- p. 318: Harmodios is lesonis of the local temple of the three crocodiles Psosnaus, Pnepheros et Soxis in SB III 6154 = I.Fayoum II 135 and NOT of Amun, as indicated in PP III 5380.
- p. 320, n. 66: add “Carrez-Maratray, J.-Y. (2014) has convincingly argued in favor of the identification of Aristonicus as the close friend of Ptolemy V, previously rejected, see Carrez-Maratray, J.-Y. (2014), 'L'armée lagide sur le front du Delta intervenants et champs d'opération (encore le syngénès Aristonikos Caire JE 85743)', in Vésisse, A.-E. and Wackenier, S. (eds.), L'armée en Egypte aux époques perse, ptolémaïque et romaine (Geneva: Droz).”
- p. 354: Demotic should be ḥsy and not ḥry for blessed.
- APPENDIX - TABLE A.2. #3: add “Thessalian” after Cleon, son of Diogenes: for “archikynêgos” read “archisômatophylakos.” (archikynêgos goes with “master of the Royal Hunt.”)
